

Emily Kuhfeld has been coaching at the Collegiate level for the past 10 years; starting at University of a South Carolina Beaufort (NAIA) for a year, then to Texas Tech University as the Assistant for 3 years, and then started the program at Georgia Southern University where she has been for the past 6 years.

Emily has coached 2 Conference Champions, 6 All- Conference Selections, 2 All America selections, an LPGA Tour player (Kim Kaufman), and has had 3 team victories as a Head Coach, and 8 team victories as an Assistant Coach.

Emily has been LPGA T&CP Class A certified for 10 years, and before she was a college coach, worked at JPGA Jr Academy, caddied on the LPGA Tour, and been an Assistant Professional at three prestigious golf clubs.

As a player, Emily played at The Ohio State University, and then spent several years on the Symetra Tour. She is from the Meridian Kessler area of Indianapolis, and attended Cathedral High School.

“ I just love helping my students improve their golf games. The relationships formed through golf have been some of the most rewarding and significant in my life, and I am so excited to work with Jim and Crystal at the Legends. I am very grateful to Ted Bishop for this opportunity to teach at his wonderful facility- and I look forward to helping you play more enjoyable and better golf!”

Areas of focus-

Has experience with every age and skill level; but particularly enjoys short game and course management. “ I believe that competitive golf is very different than non competitive golf; and having a great short game and playing to your strengths can really help you make the most out of your abilities. In recruiting and building players for the last decade, I can say the main differences that separates juniors especially are short game and managing themselves and their strengths around a golf course in competition.”
